

The Tip

Get your bedroom right It can make or break your marriage, says feng shui

If there is any room which requires good feng shui, it is the bedroom. When the chi or energy of the bedroom is harmonious and conducive to good fortune, the occupants will enjoy a successful relationship and good health. When the chi in the bedroom is not harmonious, there will be no conjugal happiness and often leads to separation or divorce. Follow these tips —

- The bedroom should always be rectangular or square. Avoid an L-shaped bedroom, which usually happens when there's an attached bathroom. It creates several inter-related problems and depletes your good luck factor.
- Never sleep under a large overhead exposed beam that gives the illusion of cutting the bed into two. The energy coming from above can actually lead to the couple to split.

- Avoid sleeping in a bedroom that is located directly below a toilet. The toilet shoots unhappy chi that causes problems between the couple.

- Don't sleep on a double bed with two single mattresses. Symbolizing separation, it can actually take a turn for the real.

- If anything can wreck a marriage it would be the mirror facing the bed. Mirrors send shar chi that triggers misunderstandings and infidelity.

Ensure a bed-rest and a wall behind the bed for good support.

DIMPLE LUNIYA
(The writer is city-based feng shui expert)

Sp

Fine Dining

Fernandez Villa (Near St. An

[Outdoor cat